

1. What's the loudest crowd or celebration you've ever been part of (concert, game, rally, etc.)? How did it feel to be part of something so loud and unified?

2. Read Joshua 6:1–20.

What stands out to you about the instructions God gave to Joshua and the people?

Why do you think God included a shout in the battle plan?

What role do you think obedience and faith played in the people's willingness to shout before the walls fell?

3. Shabach is loud, bold, public praise. How comfortable are you with that kind of worship? What holds you back from expressing your faith more boldly—whether in worship or in everyday life?

4. The people of Israel shouted before the miracle. What would it look like for you to praise God right now in the middle of a “wall” situation in your life?

5. Is there a part of your life where you've been waiting for God to act before you worship? What would it look like to flip that—to worship first, in faith?

6. Can you think of a time in your past when praising God changed your perspective, even before anything changed in your circumstances? How could that encourage you—or someone else—today?

7. What's one practical way you could “Shabach” this week?

- Singing boldly in church?
- Sharing a testimony publicly?
- Declaring God's goodness aloud during a difficult moment?
- Praising God audibly at home or with your family?

How can your LIFE Group support you as you grow in bold, faith-filled praise?

8. Close your group time by sharing one thing each person is believing God for—and then as a group, verbally thank and praise Him in advance for what He's going to do.

“To shout, to commend, to triumphantly declare. It’s praise that’s loud, confident, and contagious.”

Jericho Joy! - Joshua 6

What might it look like for you to shabach in your circumstances?
