

1. When you hear the church talk about money, what's your initial reaction, and where do you think that reaction comes from?
2. Which question or statement from the message challenged something you've always assumed about giving? What did it make you rethink?
3. The message Sunday reminded us that, "We are stewards, not owners." If that's actually true, where would that idea most disrupt your current habits or priorities?
4. Read 2 Corinthians 9:6–7. According to Paul, what matters more to God: the amount given or the attitude behind it? How does that compare to how you've typically thought about giving?
5. If generosity is meant to be an overflow of loving God and loving others, what's one way that could show up differently in your life right now?
6. What's one area (time, talents, or treasure) where you tend to hold back the most? What do you think is underlying that?
7. Imagine if everyone at Northampton approached generosity with a "100% belongs to God" mindset. What would realistically change, for the church and for people outside the church?
8. What's one simple step you could take this week to move from intention to action when it comes to generosity? (Not a lifelong commitment—just a next step.)

MESSAGE NOTES

Pastor Joe Pryor

Big idea: All that I have and all that I am belongs to God.

Things to remember when it comes to giving:

Generosity flows from _____, not _____.

We are _____, not _____.

All that I _____ and all that I _____ belongs to God.

Giving before the Law

Giving under the Law

Giving in the New Testament

Giving is not about _____, it's about _____ & really it's about your _____.

When I give...

1. It recognizes God's _____ & _____ to supply for my needs.
2. It demonstrates that God doesn't own just _____, He owns it _____.
3. It communicates my heart to _____ & _____.
4. It supports the _____ of the local church here and around the world.
